

The next three photos you are about to view contain information that are not intended to offend, upset or disrespect my family. When I started this, my intention was to gather as much information as I could (with your help) to learn about an uncle I never had the privilege of knowing.

Now, after gathering this information and being blessed by it, I decided to do my best to present the information in a manner that both honors Uncle Buford and informs my family. Sadly, much of what is available in the way of information/facts about him are events surrounding his death.

With that being said, this is what I know about the details of Uncle Buford's short life and death.

I love you all very much.
